STATE

STATE OF THE LEAGUE

The new public snapshot confirms the same roster, transaction, and future-capital bytes as the frozen post-draft report. The useful change is context: Week 1 pairings, current saved lineups, current Sleeper status labels, and an explicit readiness check.

No silent movement between reports.

The fresh snapshot contains 0 new transaction IDs, zero changed transaction endpoint hashes, zero changed team rosters, and no future-capital delta versus the accepted POST snapshot. Every current claim below is still tied to the new 2026-08-30T04:29:08.885Z capture.

SOURCES, METHOD, LIMITS

The report distinguishes what Sleeper returned, what deterministic code counted, and what the public data cannot establish.

Evidence contract

- VERIFIED FACT Public read-only Sleeper league, users, rosters, traded picks, draft, picks, Week 1 matchups, NFL state, player metadata, and transaction endpoints frozen at 2026-08-30T04:29:08.885Z.
- DERIVED STAT Exact IDs join 12 users to 12 rosters; 329 current roster entries, 25 taxi placements, 48 rookie picks, 96 future assets, and 42 unique post-cutoff transactions reconcile.
- UNKNOWN / UNAVAILABLE No private messages, deleted offers, complete account audit log, frozen projection feed, or dynasty-value feed is available.
- Sleeper status and injury fields are informational source labels, not a medical conclusion. A missing field is not silently translated into clearance.
- Week 1 rows prove pairings and saved lineups at the snapshot time. They do not prove game-day availability or outcomes.
